BIG BASEBALL DEAL.

Manager Chance Sells Chase to Chicago
White Sox.

New York, June 2.—First baseman Hal Chase has been traded to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for second baseman Rolfe Zeider and first baseman Norton. Manager Frank Chance of the New York American league team announced last night.

Chance said that after canvassing all the American league teams he had found the White Sox the only club willing to give an equivalent for Chase. Chance explained that while he considered Chase a great first baseman, Hal had fallen off in his batting to such a degree that a change of some kind was compulsory.

It was announced that Chance himself would play first base regularly for the White Sox, beginning to-day, and might see Borton in the outfield, either probably will be played at second.

Zeider and Borton will report to Chance here on Tuesday morning. Chase has received instructions from Manager Callahan to report to the White Sox at once.

Chase was the oldest member in point of service on the New York Americans. He joined the team in 1905. Regarded by probably the majority of baseball observers as one of the greatest first basemen since the game began, and once a hard hitter, he has been of late an uncertain batter. He was made manager of the team in the latter part of the 1910 season, succeeding George Stallings, and remained at the head of the club the following year. Harry Wolverton was his successor.

WAITSFIELD WOMAN HURT.

Mrs. George M. Jones Was Thrown Out of Carriage.

Waitsfield, June 2.—While Mrs. George M. Jones, accompanied by her daughter, Marion, and Henry Miner of Montpelier, were returning from the exercises on Memorial day, they met an automobile driven by John McLaughlin. Owing to the rough road, Mr. McLaughlin is alleged to have been on the wrong side. Mrs. Jones' horse became frightened and leaped over the bank, upsetting the carriage and throwing the occupants upon the ground.

Mrs. Jones sustained severe injuries, breaking her left arm near the elbow in such a way that all three bones were badly split. Dr. Bidwell of Waterbury set the bones, but it was necessary to administer ether. At present, Mrs. Jones is as comfortable as could be expected.

TOOK REVOLVER AND $156

Masked Robber Cut Telephone Wires at Brattleboro Railroad Station.

Brattleboro, June 2.—Richard L. Heaphy, night ticket agent and freight clerk at the Central Vermont railroad station, was held up in the office of the freight house at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning and relieved of $156 in cash, two watches, his keys and a revolver. The robber, who was masked on the lower part of his face, stepped from behind a desk when Heaphy entered the office and showed a revolver in his face before the agent had time to draw his own weapon. The robber demanded to know which key opened the old-fashioned safe in the office, but Heaphy did not have the key to that. The robber backed out of the door and Heaphy jumped to the telephone to find that the wires had been cut. He described the man as five feet six inches in height with curly hair and wearing a brown suit.

HUNDREDS OF
BARBERS AND BOOT-
BLACKS STRIKE

Former Paraded Through Boston's
North End Trying to Induce Other
Workers to Quit—Two Arrests Made.

Boston, June 2.—Several hundred barbers and bootblacks struck to-day for shorter hours and more money. The barbers are about equally divided, one group belonging to the Industrial Workers of the World and the other affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The strikers made a tour of the north end shops still doing business, appealing to the workers to quit, and during the excursion two strikers were arrested.

The bootblacks have a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Among other things, they wish to retain the tips, which they say now go to the bosses.

WORKING AMONG BOYS.

W. Parkyn Jackson Tells of the Effort
Being Made in St. Albans.

In the Congregational church yesterday afternoon, W. Parkyn Jackson, who is superintendent of the Stranahan Memorial in St. Albans, told something of his work among boys and young men to an attentive congregation. A mixed quartet consisting of Miss Glee Wood, Miss Fulsom, a member of the faculty at Montpelier seminary, Fred Inglis and R. G. Lamont, an instructor at Goddard seminary, sang several selections and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Barnett, conducted the services. In prefacing his remarks, Mr. Jackson said he took peculiar pleasure in speaking once again in the local church, since it was in the Barre Congregational church that he gave the first sermon he ever delivered in the United States.

The St. Albans minister declared that every age has been the age of the young man and in the course of his address he developed the theory that only through a thorough understanding of the boy, his strong points and his weaknesses, can the best good be worked. He placed special emphasis on the contention that a boy could be tempted to exert himself for good much easier than he could be attracted by evil if the proper methods were employed. To his audience he addressed the significant question: "Your boys, what are you doing for them?"

Turning to his own experience with boys, Mr. Jackson described the work now going on in St. Albans, called attention to the fact that he had been variously manifested and pictured at length the program of the boy's club in the Railroad city. The club was organized, he said, without regard to the profession, trade or creed or color of its members. As an organization, it was planned to be distinctly cosmopolitan. Rational recreation, a reading room, pool, billiards, out-door games and instruction are among the things provided for the young men of the city. There have been over 500 young men and older students affiliated with the club in the past year. A night school has a curriculum which includes among other studies, shorthand, telegraphy, mathematics, current events, English, etc. A military organization, an orchestra and an employment agency are among the agencies that have contributed to its success. The speaker in the course of his remarks, intimated that something should be attempted in Barre along the same lines.

The work was done with a revolver which she had concealed, but neither shot was fatal. She was evidently out of her mind, as she has been thought by many as insane for some time.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—Secretary Houston has decided that the department of agriculture needs more publicity and he has determined to start a bureau of information, the primary object of which will be to disseminate news about the department's manifold activities. He has selected George W. Wharton of Flushing, L. I., to take charge of the bureau. A criticism of the press notices sent out by the department, by Walter H. Page, American ambassador to Great Britain, led Secretary Houston to change the system.

WELLS RIVER YOUTH
DROWNED SUNDAY

Charles Ledwith, Aged 13, Was Playing on the Logs in Connecticut River
When He Slipped in.

Wells River, June 2.—Shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday, Charlie, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ledwith, accidentally fell into the Connecticut river from a pile of logs just in the rear of his home. He was quickly carried away in the swift current and his body had not been recovered.

He was playing on the logs with a handspike in his hand and shortly afterwards Nellie Dalton, a neighbor living next door, saw him in the water and saw him rise to the surface twice. She and her mother ran and told the boy's parents and spread the alarm generally, but the would-be rescuers on reaching the water's edge could see no trace of the boy. The rivermen in charge of the logs immediately commenced dragging for the body, assisted by many volunteers and the search has continued at various points down the river but without success.

RECEIVED TREATMENT.

It Was Dr. E. L. Taylor's Second and Clarence Nourse's First Injection.

Dr. Elton L. Taylor of Barre and Clarence Nourse of Worcester returned last night from Providence, R. I., where they have been spending the past few days at the Dr. Friedmann Institute for tubercular patients. Both Dr. Taylor and Mr. Nourse were inoculated with the Friedmann "tubercle serum" during their visit by the German scientist himself. This was the second injection Dr. Taylor has received from Dr. Friedmann. About seven weeks ago the Barre man was treated by Friedmann at Providence.

Dr. Taylor places great confidence in the work of the German and is thoroughly satisfied with the results of the first inoculation, and has shown great improvement since his first visit. Mr. Nourse's injection was his first. Dr. Friedmann is to return to Germany probably in the course of a few weeks and as soon as he can satisfactorily arrange his business affairs.

SHIPPING PULLETS TO ENGLAND.

Judge H. W. Scott Also Is Sending Bees
to New York State.

From the beehive and the brood nest to the bench is a far cry, but Judge H. W. Scott, who presides over the destinies of Barre's municipal court, besides directing the affairs of the grand lodge of Vermont Old Fellows as its grand patriarch, as well as the state lodge of the N. E. O. P., finds he has time for assuming a mildly indulgent attitude toward the avocation of apiarist and poultry raising. To both of these subsidiary pursuits, Judge Scott, who, it may be mentioned incidentally, is president of the Vermont Poultry association, devotes much of his spare time and as a result of his dual hobby for bees and fancy chickens he has gained for himself an enviable reputation among out-of-town bee keepers and poultrymen.

To-day the judge shipped by express a half-dozen Sicilian Buttercup pullets that will take a long voyage over the "big pond" before they reach their destination. The Buttercups are consigned to Captain W. J. Toozes, who owns the Avondale poultry farm at Harold Wood, Essex, Eng. The captain is the skipper of a freight steamer plying between Boston and Portsmouth, Eng., and he will take charge of the birds at the north wharf in Boston.

The same train which carries the Sicilian pullets away to the beginning of their sea voyage conveyed ten mules of fancy bred bees from the judge's Richardson street apiaries. The honey-makers are of Italian three-banded, leather-colored stock and will be released in the apiaries of Dr. Paul Roach at Quaker street, New York. Judge Scott has already shipped one consignment of nuclei this season, in addition to several single shipments. Before the bees leave the apiaries for the express office, they are thoroughly inspected by a state inspector of apiaries.

Just recently J. P. Rock of Lyndonville, who is the man to whom bee-keepers on the east side of the state look for their inspections, was in the city to look over the honey colonies in this section. It was on the occasion of his latest visit that the judge's bees passed the test. The bee-keeper and poultry man intends to make a number of other shipments to far sections of the country, before the season is over.

ELUDED THE OFFICER.

Man Was Being Arrested on Breach of the Peace Charge.

The Montpelier police department were notified from Graniteville this noon to watch for a man named August Macki, who eluded the officer who was trying to arrest him last night. Macki is a man of about 35 years of age and is said to have made his get-away at 11 o'clock, being called out while attending a funeral. The only description furnished the Montpelier officers was that the man was light complexioned and wore a black suit.

A warrant for Macki's arrest was issued by Town Grand Juror A. C. Dickie of East Barre, who instructed Constable T. F. Riley to arrest the man. Macki is accused of committing an assault upon his wife at Graniteville this morning, it being alleged that he struck her on the arm with a knife, inflicting a gash of some size. Macki is employed as a quarryman. At other times in the past, Graniteville officers have been called to his home to quell disturbances of a similar nature, it is said.

LOAD OF HAY, LOAD OF BEER.

Thirteen Kegs Were Found Underneath
the Fodder.

Winoski, June 2.—Ugo Cerogoli was arrested by Officer George Horton about 8 o'clock Saturday night, as he was driving a load of 13 kegs of beer up Union street. The beer was seized and taken to the police office and the young man placed in the lock-up. Cerogoli claims he did not know what he had in the light express wagon, saying that the owner asked him to get on and ride. The kegs were fastened about the back-board of the wagon and were covered with hay. At the bill, Officer Horton, who has on Malletts Bay avenue, noticed that the horse made hard work of drawing the load, and he immediately investigated. Ugo is held as a witness to clear up the case in court.

Big Maple Tree Blown Down.

One of the highest west winds in some time had a terrible with everything that lay in its path hereabouts this morning and it was not until after dawn that trees and poles and even buildings that had been rocked and away for over two hours resumed their peaceful attitude. So far as could be ascertained, the wind did little damage, although trees on the higher outskirts of the city were stripped of leaves in many places. There was one victim of the wind, however, for a giant maple tree on the Aldrich library grounds was cleft in twain and during the early hours of the forenoon a gang of men did its level best to get the street in front of the City hotel clear of limbs. The tree was located on the corner of the lot and the big branches of former years had started the work which this morning's wind completed. One half of the tree fell across the southeast side of Washington street, taking with it a strand of the Vt. Tel. & Tel. Co.'s wire system. The maple was one of the largest shade trees on lower Washington street.

IN DEFENDING
GIRL, WAS SHOT

Matthew Gordon, Aged 25,
Wounded at Northfield
Saturday Night

ASSAILANTS NOT
CAUGHT, NOR KNOWN

Three Shots Were Fired and
One Took Effect in Gordon's Hip

Matthew Gordon, aged 25, of Northfield is in Heaton hospital at Montpelier with a bullet wound in his right hip as the result of an encounter at Northfield Saturday night in which, according to the story, he was trying to resent some remarks passed to his young lady companion, Della Ganyar, as they were strolling on a dark part of King street, Northfield. Chief of Police Jerry Donahue of Northfield is at work on the case, and the police department of Barre and Montpelier were notified to be on the watch for the shooter.

The girl in the case relates that she and Gordon met two men, whom she believes to have been either Italians or Spaniards. She says the men insulted her and that her escort knocked one of the men down, after which occurred the shooting in the general encounter. Three shots were fired, but only one took effect. At the shooting the Ganyar girl ran and collided with a barbed wire fence and being severely cut by the barbs, she was forced to leave the scene. Chief Donahue and after Gordon had notified the latter.

Gordon's wounds were examined and it was decided to take him to Heaton hospital, the patient being taken by carriage early Sunday morning and reaching the institution at one o'clock. Dr. C. E. Chandler of Montpelier pronounced the wound not dangerous although the patient was in considerable pain. When Sheriff Tracy talked with Gordon at the hospital yesterday the latter was unable to give any description of his assailants but he thought from their voices that they were foreigners.

In order to intercept the men should they come to Montpelier the Montpelier police department stationed an officer at the foot of Northfield street in Montpelier early yesterday with instructions to question any persons entering the city from the direction of Northfield, while sheriff's officers went to Montpelier Junction to watch for clues.

Chief Donahue of Northfield was unable to get any information from the Ganyar girl at Northfield after the affair. She denied all knowledge as to the identity of the two men. Gordon is a granite cutter employed in Northfield.

TENDER OF FAST TRAIN
JUMPED THE IRON

Small Wreck Near West Berlin Last
Evening, When New England States
Limited Was Trying To Make Up Lost Time.

Speeding along at the rate of about a mile a minute on the downgrade from Roxbury and Northfield, the New England States Limited met with an accident last night in West Berlin, about two miles south of Montpelier Junction, when the front wheels of the engine tender left the rails, tearing up the track for the entire length of the train before it could be stopped. The train was thirty minutes late at the stations along the line and it is supposed an attempt was being made to make up some of the lost time.

The ties were reduced to kindling wood and the rails twisted out of shape. No one was injured and the train stopped with little or no jar. The accident happened on a curve, with a bank on the lower side of the track, and it seemed that possibilities for a much more serious accident were near at hand.

Engineer John Holland of Northfield was in the locomotive cab and Conductor Charles Grandfield was in charge of the train.

Before the accident happened, passengers were remarking to each other that they had never traveled faster on the downgrade in that vicinity than on the present trip. No stop is made from Randolph to Montpelier Junction, except at Northfield, and after leaving the latter station, great momentum is acquired, sometimes, as was the case last night.

The wreck train at St. Albans was sent for and after a wait of three hours or more, a relief engine was sent from Montpelier Junction, which hauled the train to that point. When it became evident that a stay of some hours would have to be made at the scene of the accident, several passengers bound for Montpelier and Barre started on foot for their destination, those for the latter place boarding the electric at Montpelier, reaching this city about 9:30. Several members of a "suffragette" party, who marched into the capital city with suitcases and umbrellas, and then came to Barre, are not saying much to-day about the beauties of Vermont scenery (at night) or the healthfulness of a stroll through the country and over the hill roads when cumbered with baggage.

Elio Prestini of Short street is suffering from a case of blood poison. Prestini is employed as a butcher at the H. J. Smith market and during the course of his work last week a small cut was inflicted from a sharp-edged bone. Yesterday the hand was infected so that he was obliged to summon the services of a doctor. Prestini will be unable to resume his work for several weeks to come.

Weather Forecast.

Fair to-night and Tuesday; cooler in southwestern Maine and southern New Hampshire to-night; brisk west and northwest winds.

ARE FIGHTING
OFF POISON

Harry F. Baldwin Takes a Dose of Bichloride of Mercury

MISTAKING IT FOR
HEADACHE TABLET

Doctors Summoned to His Apartment Early This Forenoon

Harry F. Baldwin, employed by Reynolds & Son as a salesman and proprietor of the Baldwin correspondence school, is at the City hospital in a grave condition as the result of taking a bichloride of mercury tablet by mistake, it is said, for a headache poison, at his apartments in the Morse block this forenoon at 9 o'clock. Drs. V. C. Goodrich and P. E. Duffy, who were called at 9:30 o'clock, worked over the man until noon, when he was removed to the hospital. This afternoon it was stated that the patient's condition was serious, although everything known to medical science had been applied in his behalf.

The bottle containing the bichloride tablets was plainly labeled on the outside with the druggist's poison warning, also printed on the sticker. Across each tablet the word poison appeared in raised letters. Baldwin told the doctors that he purchased the bottle in St. Johnsbury. He took one of the little tablets, thinking it to be a headache alleviator, he said. There were seventeen of the mercury tablets left in the bottle.

It was right around 9 o'clock when the housekeeper at the Morse block was attracted to Baldwin's apartments by the man's groans. She immediately notified a nearby druggist, it is said, and the latter summoned Drs. Goodrich and Duffy. They worked over the patient for nearly two hours and by 11:30 Baldwin was able to leave his rooms and accompany the doctors to the hospital in a team.

Baldwin has lived in Bar
